- 1 The first column shows the National Assembly composition based on provisional results released by the National Independent Electoral Commission (CENI) as of 1 February 2012. 483 out of 500 seats were declared.
- 2 The second column shows the composition after the proclamation of final results by the Supreme Court of Justice (CSJ) on 25 April 2012. 482 out of 500 seats were declared. The mandates of 32 candidates declared elected by the National Independent Electoral Commission (CENI) were invalidated by the court. Of those, 31 were awarded to other candidates while the outcome in one constituency was annulled with that seat left vacant.
- 3 On 19 June 2012, the National Independent Electoral Commission (CENI) published the last set of legislative results from six constituencies (10 seats) where problems prevented an earlier release. 492 out of 500 seats were declared with eight left vacant.
